Memorial to the policeman killed by mob in 1985 riots is vandalised
– in the same week murder inquiry yields two arrests

By Lucy Purdy

A MEMORIAL standing in honour of the policeman hacked to death during riots in Tottenham 25 years ago has been covered in white paint by a vandal.

A 41-year-old man has been arrested on suspicion of causing criminal damage after members of the public reported the incident last Thursday.

The plaque stands in Muswell Hill in memory of PC Keith Blakelock, who was killed during the infamous Broadwater Farm estate riots in 1985.

The vandalism comes in the same week as two men were arrested on suspicion of PC Blakelock's murder. The 46-year-old and 52-year-old – who would have been 21 and 27 at the time of his death – both hail from Tottenham and have been released on bail until a court date in September.

Haringey borough commander Chief Superintendent Dave Grant slammed the desecration of PC Blakelock's memorial.

He said: "I'm appalled that this has happened and that the memory of an officer who died in the line of duty has been besmirched in such a way."

This year marks the 25th anniversary of the night on October 6 when father-of-three PC Blakelock was hacked to death by a machete-wielding mob. Up to 500 youths rampaged through Broadwater Farm, lighting fires, looting and attacking police and firefighters with baseball bats and bottles.

PC Blakelock and his colleague PC Richard Coombes were attacked by youths wearing balaclavas as they tried to protect firefighters. Eyewitnesses reported seeing PC Blakelock trip and then quickly being surrounded by angry thugs.

The violence was sparked by the death of 49-year-old Cynthia Jarrett who collapsed during a police raid on her home. Winston Silcott, Mark Braithwaite and Engin Raghip were wrongly convicted of PC Blakelock's murder and cleared on appeal in 1991.

Scotland Yard opened a new investigation into the murder in 2003, digging up the garden of a house in Tottenham where police said they had recovered an item of significance. And in 2005, police released images of PC Blakelock's blood-stained overalls to urge witnesses to share what they saw during the raids.

Detectives have repeatedly said people in the area have information about the identities of the killers which they have not passed on to police.

The two men were arrested at two separate addresses in north London before being taken for questioning at an unnamed police station.

Officers this week repeated their plea for anyone with information to come forward.

A spokesman for the Met Police's homicide and serious crime command said: "We would like to reassure anyone who has information regarding those involved in the murder of PC Keith Blakelock, or the attempted murder of PC Richard Coombes who was also attacked and injured during the riots, that they can contact the incident room in confidence on 020 8733 4613."

Senior GP denounces NHS plans for London

A LEADING GP representative has condemned NHS London's plans for a rejig of health services across the capital, including the proposed downgrading of The Whittington Hospital.

Dr Michelle Drage, chief executive of the London Local Medical Committees, which represents doctors across London, said Lord Ara Darzi's 2007 review Healthcare For London had been driven "without adequate consultation with the public and the profession", adding that it was based on "sound principles" but was likely to destabilise the system.

Though a review of the North Central London NHS sector has been halted by new health secretary Andrew Lansley, the proposals and evidence in the recently released McKinsey report are likely to raise their head again, considering the £5bn shortfall facing health bosses.

Mr Lansley announced last month that GPs will be given a more central role in future consultations – though the details of this have yet to be thrashed out.

Dr Drage said: "We have been saying for virtually a decade that this is what we think is appropriate. GPs have a good track record: we are highly trusted by our patients to look after them and we are good at managing our finances because we run our own practices. We want NHS London to empower parties at the coal face."

She remains unconvinced about Lord Darzi's plan to centralise specialist services and rearrange some hospital services into so-called "polysystems". "Rather than creating huge, monolithic organisations so that other organisations can talk to them, we want them to invest in the small-is-beautiful case," Dr Drage explained.

"We support the idea of specialist centres where appropriate. But there is still a debate about whether having a top line of specialist hospitals when a patient is having a stroke is a good idea. Some things are best delivered by specialist centres but not everything should go that way. We were not in any way pleased with centralising A&E departments."

On the shadowy McKinsey report, the so-called "clinical evidence" behind NHS London's actions and which finally saw the light of day on May 20, Dr Drage was scathing.

She said: "If you pay a management consultant to apply a business solution – the solution of the supermarket – to patient care, you will get supermarket solutions. Either you believe general practice is a supermarket operation or you believe it is a uniquely British thing, which is healthcare at a world-class level – the envy of most of the world."

Concerns: Dr Michelle Drage is alarmed at the steps taken to centralise A&E departments

Holt joins call for hospital boss to quit

CONSULTANTS at Great Ormond Street Hospital have signed a letter calling for the resignation of the chief executive.

More than 40 doctors have urged Dr Jane Collins to quit, citing concerns over relationships between doctors and senior members of staff.

Among the signatories is Dr Kim Holt, who was placed on "special leave" after warning that staff shortages at the clinic in St Ann's Hospital, Tottenham – run by Great Ormond Street would lead to the death of a child. Months later, 17-month-old Peter Connelly died after a doctor at the clinic in St Ann's Road failed to spot his broken back.

Dr Holt, from Muswell Hill, has yet to be given her job back despite an NHS London ruling she should be reinstated.

She told the Advertiser: "There were so many problems in that department and we weren't shy in raising our concerns on a regular basis. But then cuts were made which we felt impacted yet further on the care of patients."

A Great Ormond Street spokesman said: "The chairwoman of the trust met four consultants last week and discussed a variety of concerns regarding the running of the hospital."

Don't falter: Patrick Fitzsimons wants to make it seven in a row

Bloomin' pub marvel Patrick aims to make it seven on the trot

By Lucy Purdy

A LANDLORD in Finsbury Park is hoping to beat his horticultural rivals for the seventh year in a row in the annual Haringey In Bloom competition, which is now open.

Patrick Fitzsimons, who mans the pumps at The Faltering Fullback pub in Perth Road, hopes to keep up the good work as his establishment has won Best Bloomin' Pub and Restaurant category every year since 2002.

"We've been winning that category for years now and we're hoping to make it a clean sweep," he said, having last year pipped The Great Northern Railway Tavern in High Street, Crouch End, and the Jolly Anglers in Station Road, Wood Green, to the post last year.

Residents, businesses, schools and other groups can take part in the free competition in 12 categories, including best front garden and best allotment, to reward green-fingered residents and brighten up the borough.

Councillor Dilek Dogus, cabinet member for adults and community services at Haringey Council, said: "Everyone knows that we're one of the greenest boroughs in London.

"This competition is a great way of encouraging residents and groups to play their part in making the borough even more attractive."

The 12 categories are: front garden, container garden, wildlife front garden, community garden, sheltered housing scheme, sustainable allotment site, greener school grounds award, young gardener, neighbourhood award, business premises and bloomin' pub and restaurant.

The deadlines for entries or nominations is 5pm on June 30 and judging will take place during the first week of July. For an application form, visit www.haringey.gov.uk/hib10

Police investigate spree of early morning fire attacks

POLICE are investigating a spate of early morning fires which destroyed a motorbike, smashed a bay window and terrified residents in Tottenham.

Detectives from Haringey CID are looking into a series of blazes which took place between 3am and 4am on Sunday, May 30.

A bed in the front garden of a house in Junction Road was set alight, with the family only waking at the sound of breaking glass.

Rubbish was taken from a bin outside a Mitchley Road address, set alight and thrown into the porch – the residents were woken by the sound of their fire alarm.

A Honda motorbike was also torched in Scales Road and a net curtain was set alight through an open window in Holcombe Road.

The owner heard the crackling sound of the material burning and put it out. In another incident, a mattress was set alight in the front garden of a boarded-up house in Malvern Road.

Detective Constable Mike Stonehouse is leading the investigation into the fires, in which no one was injured.

He said: "If nothing else this series of incidents must be used to remind people of the importance of installing smoke alarms and regularly checking the batteries are working. The mindless actions of whoever was concerned could so easily have had more serious consequences, but thankfully no one was injured – in at least one case due to the victims having a working smoke alarm.

"We are taking every step to identify those responsible. I am particularly interested in speaking to three young men believed to have been seen filming the fires on mobile phones, as they may have seen something or have information that could be helpful.

"If you saw anyone acting suspiciously in the area I would like to hear from you."

At Specsavers we don't just treat half your hearing problem

Hardly anybody loses their hearing in just one ear. So wearing one hearing aid can cause as many problems as it solves. In particular, it's hard to distinguish the sounds you want to hear from background noise, making speech hard to follow. However, the price of hearing aids has always made buying two prohibitively expensive. Now, at Specsavers, we've changed all that, because we can offer two digital hearing aids for the price of one, from just £495.

Pair of colonies established to teach residents

BEEKEEPERS from Wood Green are helping to establish two new colonies at a garden centre in Muswell Hill this summer to help boost numbers of the dwindling native species.

Tony and Kate Wilkinson, who are members of North London Beekeepers, have created homes for two queens and up to 14,000 drone bees at the Alexandra Palace Garden Centre, which is owned by Capital Gardens, in Alexandra Palace Way.

They hope to teach local residents more about the insect, encourage customers to seek out bee-friendly plants, as well as help protect the native honey bee whose numbers have been virtually wiped out in recent years due to changing farming practices and the blood-sucking varroa mite.

Tony, who lives in Maryland Road, told the Advertiser he had jumped at the idea of the project after spotting the centre's "wonderful" wildlife garden.

He said: "I've always had an interest in bees because I grew up in Singapore where there were always lots of insects about – big ones too. We have called the queens Hermione and Avalonia because it's nice to give them a name rather than just a number and we plan to keep an updated information board so people can find out more.

"We are not expecting them to produce any honey this year because they will take a while to settle in, but they should produce after this winter. Urban bees actually have a better deal than their country cousins. In the city, there are fewer herbicides and pesticides and bees actually have a greater variety of plants in gardens and parks. Flowers, trees and fruit trees all need to be pollinated so city bees are spoilt for choice."

At the height of the colony, there will be between 60-70,000 hard-working bees in each hive with the queen laying a staggering 2,000 eggs each day. Bees are able to travel up to three miles from the hive and communicate to their fellow workers, through a so-called waggle dance, the location of a good food supply.

While human beings are able to hear in stereo, the bees' sense of smell is similarly well-developed and it is even thought they can detect the smell of fear when someone approaching a swarm is afraid.

TONY, 52, explained that he and Kate are particularly keen to ensure the bees' welfare because contented bees are more likely to be docile and well-tempered.

They already look after another hive near the garden centre and plan to hold observation days for people to carefully watch the bees.

Tony said he often spends hours watching their comings and goings. He added: "Every time I go and look at them, they are teaching me something different. We think we are a clever and sophisticated society but I often think we have nothing on the bees.

"Look at their honeycomb. Structurally it is so strong and is something we have mimicked in our buildings.

"Also the whole aspect of the colony and the way they work together is fascinating. It is nature at its most beautiful."

North London Beekeepers run beekeeping classes for beginners as well as the Adopt A Hive scheme which allows those who have been through the classes to look after and manage a hive for a whole year without having to buy any of the expensive equipment.

Danger concerns:
The two dogs seized may have been controlled breeds

By Lucy Purdy

A PAIR of dangerous dogs were seized from a house in Hornsey last week along with 100 cannabis plants.

A 27-year-old woman was arrested at the home in Elm Grove on June 2 on suspicion of possessing dangerous dogs and producing cannabis. A warrant was carried out as part of an investigation by Haringey police in response to residents' concerns about dangerous dogs. Two pit bull-type dogs were seized and will now be examined by specialists to verify whether they are the controlled breed.

Superintendent Chris Barclay said: "We are aware of community concern about people who

Residents' concerns leads to arrest and seizure of drugs and two dogs use dogs to cause anti-social behaviour, intimidation and fear. In nearly all cases it is the owner who is at fault for allowing or training the dog to behave aggressively.

"All dogs, especially certain breeds, need to be properly managed so they do not become aggressive and owners have a responsibility to keep their dogs under control. Owning a pit bull terrier-type dog or any breed that is dangerously out of control is against the law and anyone found in possession of such a dog will be investigated and could face prosecution.

"My officers will continue to work with the council and other partners to tackle the issue of dangerous dogs and find lasting solutions to make sure that the community is kept safe."

The woman has been bailed to return to police on July 28.

Teen jailed for six years for violent attack on woman

A TEENAGER who subjected a woman to a violent sexual attack in her own home has been jailed.

Mohammed Mohammed, 19, of Pembury Road, Tottenham, was jailed for six years last Wednesday after being found guilty of raping the woman at her home in Southgate.

Wood Green Crown Court heard how Mohammed had been invited into the home of his victim just prior to the attack in June last year.

The jury was told how Mohammed forced his way into the woman's bedroom, ignoring repeated pleas for him to leave. He then stripped naked and climbed into the victim's bed. When she went into the bedroom to once again try to convince him to leave the house she was subjected to a "prolonged and violent" attack.

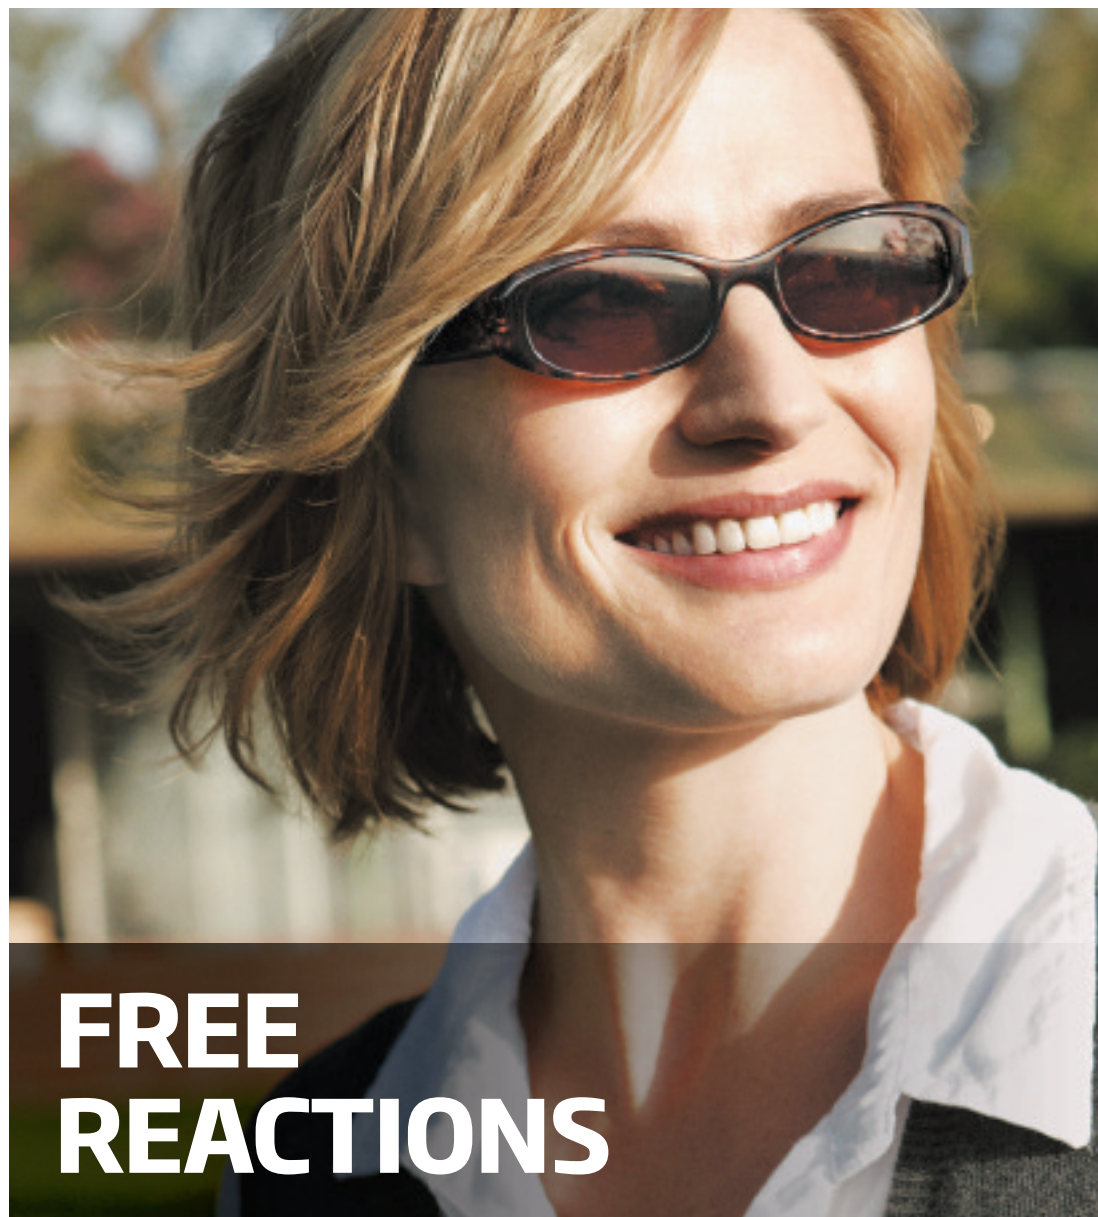

Following the assault, the woman called police and Mohammed was arrested at the scene. He was charged with four counts of rape the following day.

According to officers the victim's ordeal was further compounded when Mohammed decided to pen a letter to her during the week-long trial at Wood Green Crown Court.

Detective Constable Martin Brown said: "At no point during our investigation did Mohammed show any remorse for the trauma he has put his victim through. He even wrote to the victim from prison during the trial, causing her even further anguish.

"I'm grateful that the court was able to appreciate this for the crime it was. It was clear that the facts of this case visibly upset members of the jury.

"I hope that the unanimous belief in the victim's account of events will help her come to terms with what has happened and allow her to move forward in her life."

NEWS

A WOMAN from Muswell Hill has been jailed for four years after stashing cocaine, cannabis and thousands of ecstasy tablets in a safety deposit box.

Unemployed Clara Rothwell was found to be hiding the drugs when police raided safety deposit boxes at Hampstead Safe Depository, in Hampstead, during Operation Rize in June last year.

The 59-year-old's greed led her to continue keeping drugs at her home in Muswell Hill Road even after officers had seized her deposit box, which also contained £3,000 in cash.

She was sentenced at Wood Green Crown Court on May 25 for possession with intent to supply class A, B and C drugs and possession of criminal property. Detective Constable Andrew O'Boy, of Haringey's Payback unit, described it as a "fantastic result". He said: "We have disrupted the supply of drugs by taking a significant quantity out of circulation."

"While committing these offences, Rothwell knew the risk of being caught and I hope this conviction shows that we will do everything in our power to ensure that those who blight our communities with drugs neither get away with it nor profit from the proceeds."

Caught: Clara Rothwell

Woman jailed after raid on safety deposit boxes uncovers drugs and cash

Nearly 700 safety deposit boxes at three units in Edgware, Hampstead and Mayfair were searched under Operation Rize, which was designed to disrupt criminals hiding their ill-gotten gains. The centres were being used by criminal networks to store the proceeds of crime and contained guns, large amounts of drugs, gold ingots, fraudulent passports, credit cards and valuable paintings.

Speaking after Rothwell's conviction, Detective Chief Inspector Terri Nicholson added: "Without the assistance of borough Payback units many of the Operation Rize investigations could not have been taken forward. This is an excellent result all round."

'I'll bring spark to your dull lives...'

Get some Gallic abuse

NEXT week London will be laying out the red carpet to welcome the world's greatest philosopher/womaniser/poet/gourmand/novelist... Marcel Lucont.

France's premier misanthropist - who occasionally passes himself off as actor Alexis Dubus from Buckinghamshire - performs his latest award-winning show, Encore, at Jacksons Lane in Highgate.

In a much sought-after slot with his greatness, I asked how he felt about returning to London.

"Well, I'm only really here for the money," he said with a Gallic shrug. "London is so bizarre with such st service. I'm sorry, but I just don't expect the phrase, 'How can I help you?' to be a rhetorical one because I expect some actual help.

"And then there's your transport system. When I see on the platform a time for the train to arrive, I expect that this is the time the train should arrive. Instead, it seems to be some kind of magic trick where they make the train disappear in the tunnel!"

Unfortunately, Marcel's withering contempt also extends to Britain as a whole...

"Where to start? Well... perhaps your food. What is it with your abundance of mild fing cheddar? I don't think this has ever been near a cow in its life. I don't know who is eating the mild cheddar, all I know is to eat this is to give up on life. Everything in your country is so mild - the weather is mild, your wives are mild and you're all heading for a mild-life crisis. It sums up your nation striving for mildness and mediocrity and that is why I have chosen to come here - to bring a little spark to your dull lives."

● Marcel Lucont next Thursday at 8pm at Jacksons Lane. Tickets cost £12.75 (£10.75). Call the box office on 020 8341 4421.

2. Classified Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed "Trade Advertisers", and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

(a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;

(b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or

(c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser. 4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any immediately. Reasonably cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.

11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions. 12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.

13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer. (1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.

(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. Honky tonk psycho grips in noir thriller

The Killer Inside Me (18)

Dir: Michael Winterbottom
Starring: Casey Affleck, Kate Hudson, Jessica Alba

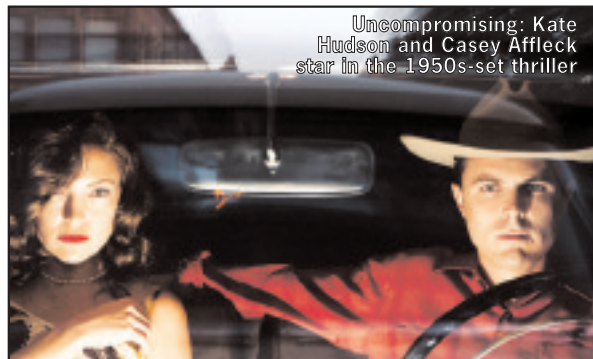

"THE trouble with growing up in a small town is that everyone thinks they know who you are".

So says Lou Ford as the opening line in Michael Winterbottom's uncompromising adaptation of Jim Thompson's pulp fiction. A noir thriller set in a quiet Midwest town in the 1950s, it shows exactly how little people do know about the modest sheriff's deputy with the boyish charm.

On the surface a model of respectability, we quickly learn that good ole boy Lou is not all he seems as brutal sex with a prostitute awakens a childhood trauma that quickly tips him over the edge into multiple murder.

These days it's rare to be shocked in the cinema but the subsequent beating Lou dishes out to Joyce is horrific in its sustained violence, causing us to not just re-evaluate the central character but also the film we're watching and its world.

Another disturbing novelty is the Uncompromising: Kate Hudson and Casey Affleck star in the 1950s-set thriller

cool maturity with which the director Winterbottom portrays the utterly enigmatic Lou. Rather than stuff the film with glib explanations of why the killer is what he is we are offered scant crumbs of comfort to leave us, like his victims, scrabbling for light in the dark.

Perhaps precisely because the maverick Brit is outside the Hollywood system, Winterbottom is the perfect choice to direct such a stridently independent film - I'm sure not many directors would have soundtracked psychosis with honky tonk jazz - while the tough as nails performances he elicits from his pretty leads will surely bolster their chances of finding more interesting, similar work in future.

As Lou Casey, Affleck is a thin stick of arsenic coated in honey; that cracked, reedy voice ideal for capturing the childlike and the sinister in this quiet monster. A chunkier Kate Hudson throws off her glamorous trappings for Lou's believable down-to-earth lover, and Jessica Alba finally proves she can act a bit as feisty Joyce who unwittingly opens Lou's fetid can of worms.

Now Showing...

Sex And The City 2 (15)

Worst film of the decade? Well, at least until part three comes out. The famed TV series has now descended into a racist, offensive, ridiculous, superficial, idiotic, humourless parody of itself which not even Carrie could dress up and pass off as tasteful. Avoid.

Heartless (18)

The East End is turned into a Gothic nightmare in Philip Ridley's depraved new world. Bold and occasionally brilliant, many may be turned off by the sudden bouts of brutal violence while others will be thrilled by its vicious lyrical poetry.

Robin Hood (12A)

Civil liberties, moral ambiguity, two 40-something leads - not what you expect from an action movie and all the better for it. The legend is bloodier and murkier, courtesy of Ridley Scott and Russell Crowe - and the antithesis of Kevin Costner's 1990s flick.

Nightmare On Elm Street (15)

Freaky face is back to haunt your dreams in this better-than-average remake. There's not the panache of original director Wes Craven, but the plot and characters create a grisly momentum.

3 small sticks celery
1 red onion
1 red or yellow pepper
150g/5oz drained tinned water chestnuts

3 tbsp coriander leaves
3 heaped tsp chopped mint
For the dressing:
1 clove garlic, crushed

1 rounded tbsp sugar
3 tbsp oriental fish sauce
Juice of two limes

Hello Tottenham!

LAST SATURDAY you may have seen some people from COKESTATES having fun strolling around Tottenham with Balloons and giving away some goodies to the local people.

Cokestates decided to have a Fun day with their colleagues, to let the local community know about their Services, and have a bit of fun in the process.

They have been established since 1925 as a family run business, you may remember them as Talbots.

As they strolled around on a Sunny Saturday they spread a bit of joy to the local Kids and community, chatting and letting them know they are just like you and me.

They are approachable, friendly, defiantly clued up on all property issues, and best of all they came to the people.

One of the freebies was a free raffle to win a CD player, so don't forget if you were given a ticket on Saturday, the winning ticket will be displayed in the Shop Window from today at 316 High Road, Tottenham.

You will need to produce your valid ticket to receive the prize.

ATTENTION LANDLORDS!

BTC LETTINGS WILL MANAGE ALL YOUR PROPERTY HEADACHES FOR ONLY 5%

Wouldn't it be great if the only thing you had to do with letting your property was enjoy your monthly income?

- * Properties urgently required
- * 1-3 years guaranteed rent available
- * Tenants with full referencing and guarantors
- * Contracts with Australian - New Zealand teachers, Indian IT graduates
- * Property Inspection Report every three months

Rents we will achieve for your flat/house:

- ★ Studio £650 - £750;
- ★ 1 bed £750 - £800;
- ★ 2 bed £950 - £1050;
- ★ 3 bed £1200 - £1300;
- ★ 4 bed £1500 - £1700;
- ★ 5 bed £2000+

BTC Lettings market reviews:

- ★ With not many property owners wanting to sell in this market, there is an overspill of properties to let, here at BTC we have over 200 properties to let
- ★ We are letting 1-3 properties a day - up to 50 a month, i.e. ONLY THE BEST SURVIVE!
- ★ With hunting tenants having soooo much choice, one thing is clear and very important. There is just too much competition, if you are thinking of letting your property, the condition/decoration will have to be of high standard. (laminated flooring would be a good tip!).
- ★ Apart from poor condition, you may particularly struggle to find tenants if the property is above commercial property or in a high rise block.
- ★ Landlords accepting tenants on housing benefit are achieving higher rent.
- ★ Apart from gas safety certificate, all newly let properties must have an EPC certificate (Energy performance certificate).

If you have any more questions/queries relating to letting your property or current letting market, please call us on 020 8889 7474

DAWSON GETS A SECOND CHANCE

By Lee Husson

MICHAEL DAWSON is determined to seize his second chance as he was called up to Fabio Capello's World Cup squad after England captain Rio Ferdinand was ruled out of the tournament with a knee injury.

The Spurs defender, who was one of the seven players cut from the preliminary 30-man squad last week, has flown out to South Africa to replace Ferdinand, who picked up the injury on the first day of training at England's base in Rustenburg.

Dawson was immediately placed on standby as Ferdinand was taken for a scan at a nearby hospital, and did not have long to prepare for his flight as the extent of the damage to the skipper's knee was revealed.

"It's a crazy game and things can change in a split second," the centre-back told Spurs' official website.

"One minute I'm trying to arrange my holiday, then I get a call asking if I was on holiday because Rio had pulled out of training.

"I said 'no' and then I was just waiting by the phone before getting a call saying I would be picked up in an hour.

"For Rio to get injured, there would be no worse feeling for him as a player. To miss the biggest tournament in the world as the captain, I feel for him.

"I've not had time to think about it but I've had call after call with people wishing me good luck.

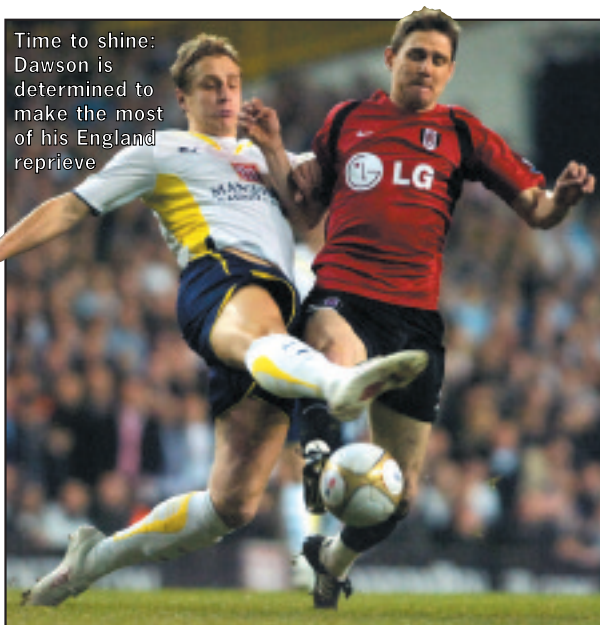

"I was planning to watch the first game of the tournament with my friends and family, but now I'm going to be there for real."

Dawson is yet to earn his first England cap, but believes he is good enough to represent his country, and is looking forward to linking up with Spurs team-mates Ledley King, Aaron Lennon, Jermain Defoe and Peter Crouch.

"I'll be going out there still having not yet won a senior cap, so where better place to get one," he said.

"But I'll just go there and train like I do every day at Spurs and we'll have to see what happens."

Time to shine: Dawson is determined to make the most of his England reprieve

Nagy leads from front as athletes secure fifth spot

BEN NAGY'S victory in the 3,000metres steeplechase helped Enfield and Haringey Athletic Club to finish in a highly creditable fifth place in the first British Athletics League Premiership meeting of the season at Cophall Stadium on Sunday.

Nagy, who claimed the club's only victory of the day, was involved in a thrilling battle with City of Manchester's James Bailey and he just managed to edge his opponent at the dip for the line as he took first place in a time of 9minutes 9.28seconds.

Darren St Clair was runner-up in the 400m (46.92secs) and Adam Scarr finished equal second in the high jump (2.20m), while there were second-placed finishes at B-string level from Elijah Winn in the 100m (10.95secs), Aaron Trim in the 400m (47.77secs), Shaun Collins in the 3,000m steeplechase (9mins 27.12secs) and Matthew Brown in the discus (53.67secs).

Meanwhile, a double victory in the relays helped Enfield and Haringey's women's team to come third in their UK Women's League meeting in Cardiff.

The 4x100m quartet of Lucy Onyeforo, Tunrayo Nubi, Dee Bakre and Toremia Dorsett (47.87secs) and the 4x400m squad of Mary Ihek, Nikki Silva, Michelle McNamara and Denise Gayle (3mins 50.56secs) both ran superbly to win their respective events.

Dorsett also won the individual 100m in 12.11secs, while Nubi confirmed Enfield and Haringey's sprint dominance by taking the B-string race (12.15secs).
